MOVED TWO AND HALF MILLIONS

THE BANK FORCED TO GIVE UP GOLD

A British Officer Went to the Preesidency and Was Met on the Porch by Mrs. Kruger—The White Lions Look Down Upon the British Guards.

Pretoria, June 5—(Delayed in Transmission)—Kruger moved two and a half million pounds of gold before the town was evacuated. It is said that commandant Botha himself consented to the surrender. The procession of British troops marched steadily into town from two till half past four. Before leaving the State attorney, Smutts, forced the national bank to give up all its available gold which was carried away. The staff officer and guards of a brigade visited the presidency today. A Dutch clergyman told him that Mrs. Kruger still resided there and asked the officer to step on the porch. Mrs. Kruger attired in a black silk dress and wearing a white cap, came out of the house and met the officer. She was perfectly collected and exchanged courtesies with the officer, who explained to her that the soldier guard would replace the Burgher guard around the presidency. The latter then placed their pistols and ammunition on the asphalt pavement near the white lions and retired.

BIG GATHERING OF MASONS.

They Will Go From All Over North Carolina to Charlotte Next Week--The Program.

Correspondence of the Telegram.

Charlotte, June 7.—The big gathering of Masons from all over North Carolina will take place in Charlotte next week, beginning Tuesday and ending Friday night with a big banquet. For four days the Shriners will have the city in full possession. The programme to be carried out is as follows:

Tuesday, June 12—Opening of the Grand Chapter of North Carolina, 8 p. m.

Wednesday—Carriage drive at 5 p. m; opening of the Grand Commandery of North Carolina at 8 p. m.; trolley and lawn party at 9 p. m.

Thursday—Knights Templars grand street parade, 5 p. m.; country drive and lunch at the Country Club, 9 p. m.

Friday—Opening of the Grand Council of North Carolina, 10 a. m.; business session of Oasis Temple, 5 p. m.; Shriners parade, 6 p. m.; ceremonial session of Oasis Temple, 8 p. m.; Shrine banquet, 11:30 p. m.

The wives and daughters of the Shriners are especially invited and will be entertained at the Manufacturers' Club while the Shriners are in session.

Frank R. McMinch and T. L. Kirkpatrick speaks tonight in the northern suburbs of the city on the issues of the campaign. They are making amendment ring in the ears of the voters and if any voters casts his ballot against the proposed amendment next August it cannot be said that it was because the Mecklenburg Democrats did not do their full duty.

The executive committee of the Southern Hosiery Yarn Spinners are in session here today.

News reaches here today of a suicide at Gastonia at noon today. Frank Saddler, colored, committed suicide by shooting himself in the head.

Saddler's father was getting ready to whip the boy when he sprang up from the table and after shooting himself with his father's pistol ran out into the yard and fell dead.

Will Graham, the well known negro hotel waiter, arrested on eleven charges, tried to play the "insanity bluff" at his trial this morning and refused to answer all questions. Graham has performed some of the slickest thievery ever done here and the stolen articles exhibited in the court today presented the appearance of a general department store. Graham was committed to jail without bond. The case created a great amount of interest today.

Attention, Firemen.

The regular monthly meeting of the fire department will be held tonight at 8 o'clock sharp. A full attendance is desired. By order of

BRITISH PUBLIC CHAFING.

Conflicting Reports Concerning British Prisoners Are Causing Much Anxiety.

By Wire to the Telegram.

London, June 8.—The British public is chafing at the lull in news from South Africa, owing to the uncertainty of British prisoners held by the Boers at Watervaal. The meagre reports which the military censor has past are conflicting. One asserts that nine hundred British prisoners were removed before Roberts entered Pretoria, another says fifteen hundred were taken away. One correspondent says that several guns and a number of Boers were captured, while another says Burghers got away with all guns, ammunition and supplies.

Choate's Residence Damaged.

By Wire to the Telegram

London, June 8.—The residence of Ambassador Choate was seriously damaged by fire early this morning, the fire being confined to the upper story. The firemen cut a gaping hole in the roof.

HOUSE CLOSED WITH SINGING.

A Group of Members Gathered Near the Speakers Chair and Began Singing National Airs, and Were Soon Joined by Others—An Old Man Thought it Was the Singing of Angels.

Washington, June 7.—In marked contrast with the exciting incidents attending the bitter struggles of the closing hours of the session, Speaker Henderson laid down his gavel at 5 o'clock this afternoon at the conclusion of one of the most picturesque scenes which has ever occurred in the Hall of Representatives. Party passion and personal rancor, which have brought the House to the brink of actual riot several times during the last forty-eight hours, gave way in the closing half hour to good fellowship which found vent in a patriotic outburst that stirred the crowded galleries to the highest pitch of enthusiasism. During a brief recess taken within 30 minutes of the time fixed for final adjournment to give the President an opportunity to affix his signature to the bills that were being rushed to him for approval a group of members, led by Messrs, Mercer, of Nebraska; Ball, of Texas; Fitzgerald, of Massachusetts, and Tawney, of Minnesota, congregated in the arena to the left of the speakers rostrum and began singing patriotic airs.

The galleries were banked to the doors. "Columbia, Gem of the Ocean," Auld Lang Syne," the "Red, White and Blue," successively rang out. As the singing proceeded members joined the groups until without regard to age or party the entire membership of the House joined in the choruses. The spectators in the galleries applauded each song until the strains of "Dixie" filled the hall. Then their unbounded enthusiasm broke out in wild cheers. But the enthusiasm Dixie evoked was not to be compared with the remarkable demonstration which followed, when, in a clear ringing tenor Mr. Fitzgerald, of Massachusetts, started the National Anthem with the inspiring words, "Through the dawn's early light." In an instant every man, woman and child in the galleries were on their feet joining in the singing. The mighty chorus from thousands of throats reverbrated through the hall making the pulses leap and the blood tingle. It was a magnificent and soul-inspiring spectacle. The ladies kept time with the rythm of the music with their handkerchiefs and the men beat the measure with their hands. The Speaker, paused as he entered the hall and raised his voice also.

The excitement produced by the scenes overcame a white-haired old man in one of the public galleries, and when the song ceased he jumped upon his seat and shouted: "That is the song of the angels in heaven." He was plainly a crank, but as he showed a disposition to harrangue the House he was quickly ejected. After Speaker Henderson had made a graceful and farewell speech thanking the members for their courtesy and had declared the House adjourned, the members of the House testified to his popularity by singing "For He is a Jolly Good Fellow," and the newspaper correspondents in the press gallery celebrated their emancipation from the burdens of Congress by sing the "Doxology."

AN INTERVIEW WITH KRUGER.

HE TALKS IN A RAILWAY CAR.

Says That the Capture of Pretoria is a Matter of no Consequence Whatever, and That the Real Trouble of the British has Only Begun—The Boers Will Never Give up—His Gold is for Lord Roberts to Find if he Can—Why He Moved From Pretoria and Left Mrs. Kruger There.

Associated Press in Charlotte Observer.

London, June 8, 3 a. m.—The executive officers of the Transvaal government are in a railway car which is shunted on a switch at Marchadorp station. President Kruger caused the interior of the coach to be reconstructed sometime ago with a view to contingencies that have now arrived. A correspondent of the Daily Express, who went from Lorenzo Marquez to see President Kruger, was received yesterday. The President sat smoking a long pipe. He looked worried, but his bearing was quiet and determined. He did not make the least objection to being interviewed. The correspondent was equipped for the interview by cables from London.

"Yes," said President Kruger, "it is quite true that the British have occupied Pretoria. This, however, does not end the war. The burghers are fully determined to fight to the last. They will never surrender as long as 500 armed men remain in the country. I feel encouraged by the fine work Steyn and Dewet are doing in the Free State."

The correspondent suggested that the war was over, inasmuch as the capital had been taken.

"The capital!" exclaimed Mr. Kruger. "What is the capital? It does not consist of any particular collection of bricks and mortar. The capitol of the republic, the seat of government, is here in this car. There is no magic about any special site. Our country is invaded, it is true, but it is not conquered. The government is still effecti ve."

Referring to the reasons why he left Pretoria, Mr. Kruger said:

"I was not foolish enough to be taken prisoner. I provided this means of locomotion precisely for the same reason as our burghers supply themselves with horses when they shake the field. It is necessary that I should be able to move from place to place quickly. That is all. By and by this car will take me back to Pretoria. For the present it enables me to keep away from Pretoria, where I could be of no service and where I should only play into the hands of the enemy."

"They say, Mr. Kruger," remarked the correspondent, "that you have brought gold with you to the value of £2,000,000."

"It is not true," replied the President. "Whatever monetary resources I may have with me are simply those which we require for State purposes. At the same time I am not going to tell you where our treasure is. Let Lord Roberts find it if he can."

"They also say, in England, Mr. Kruger, that you contempluate taking refuge on a Dutch man-of-war at Lorenzo Marques."

"That again is a lie," retorted the President with vehemence. I know of no such Dutch war vessel. I am not contemplating taking refuge anywhere. I shall not leave my country. There will be no need for me to do anything of the kind."

The correspondent: "Then, sir there is much surprise at your having left Mrs. Kruger behind."

President Kruger: "But why? Mrs. Kruger is quite safe in Pretoria. She would only be put to inconvenience here. All communications between us is stopped, of course, but she will await my return with calmness and courage. She is a brave woman. I am here awaiting further information. We are sorrounded by faithful burghers and are quite safe."

State Secretary Reitz remarked: "You may depend upon it that the war is not yet over. Guerrilla warfare will continue over an enormous area. We intend to fight to the bitter end, and shall probably retire upon Lydenburg, where we can hold our own for many months."

"Yes," observed Mr. Kruger, "it is only now the the real struggle has begun. I fear that there will still be much blood shed, but the fault is that of the British government." Then, raising his voice to a almost passionate height, Mr. Kruger exclaimed: "The time has passed for us to talk. We have done plenty of that, but it has done us no good. There is nothing left for us to do but keep on fighting—to keep on fighting."

LAW-MAKERS IN RALEIGH.

The Members of the Legislature Which Meets Next Tuesday Are Already Gathering—Some Think Private Business Will Be Transacted, and Others Think Not.

Raleigh Post.

Senator E. L. Travis of Halifax is the first member of the legislature to arrive to attend the special session of the general assembly, which convenes next Tuesday.

Senator Travis is chairman of the Senate Committee on Constitutional Amendment, and he arrived yesterday to attend a joint meeting today of the Senate and House committees on the amendment.

Many prominent members of the legislature are expected here today to attend meetings of the committees of both houses on election laws and the amendment. These committees will meet tonight probably for the first time. They will be in session several days in order to submit reports to the general assembly which convenes Tuesday.

It is understood that Mr. George Rountree, representative from New Hanover in the House, is working upon the proposed amendment to the suffrage amendment. This work was entrusted to Mr. Rountree, who is chairman of the House Committee on the Constitutional Amendment, and who is regarded as one of the ablest constitutional lawyers in the State.

The election committees, of which Mr. R. B. Glenn is the House chairman and Mr. H. W. Stubbs the Senate chairman, will consider some proposed changes in the election law.

Senator Travis said last evening, speaking of the special session of the general assembly:

"The only change to be made in the constitutional amendment is the addition of a section providing that if any part of it is unconstitutional the whole amendment shall fail. The committees will discuss this matter thoroughly. We hope to get it in shape so that the legislature can pass it without delay if it sees fit.

"I have no idea that the legislature will take up any other matter," Mr. Travis remarked. "I don't think the members of the legislature will be willing to let down the gates for the transaction of any general business. I see no reason why all business should not be transacted in three days or possibly four. All the members of the legislature from whom I have heard are coming next week. I notified all the members of the Suffrage Committee to be here today."

Senator T. J. Jerome of Union spent the day in the city yesterday. Senator Jerome is inclined to think that the legislature will devote several days to the transaction of private business. "I have one or two bills which I will introduce—one of these providing for the enlargement of the corporate limits of the town of Monroe. I am willing to vote to consider only important public matters and to bar all private bills, but I know that many members will have private bills to bring up before the assembly."

INSULTED A CRIPPLE.

Judge Adams Used Offensive Language in the Presence of a Lady.

Reports say that considerable feeling has been aroused in Burlington and Graham on account of a wanton insult offered Mr. O. F. Crowson, editor of the Burlington News, by Judge Adams on the occasion of his speech in Graham last Saturday. They were both seated at the dinner table in a boarding house, when Judge Adams, in the presence of the landlady, Mrs. Hardin, used offensive and ungentlemanly language in an indirect reference to the editor.

Mr. Crowson is a cripple, walking on crutches, and was physically unable to resent the insult. His friends learned of the affair and are greatly incensed at the action of the Republican candidate for Governor.

FOREIGNERS ARE IN A PANIC.

DIPLOMATS ARE TO SEE EMPRESS.

Fighting Going on Between Boxers and Soldiers---Great Uneasiness in London Caused by the Report That Chinese Authorities Will Not Allow More British Marines to Move.

By Wire to the Telegram.

Tien Tsin, June 8—The diplomatic body at Pekin has decided to ask an audience of the Emperor and Empress dowager, to make representations of the perilous condition of matters. All foreign families are in a panic, and are preparing to leave. It is reported that four thousand Boxers surrounded fifteen thousand Chinese troops between Iofa Yong Tsun yesterday. Fighting is still going on.

WILL NOT ALLOW MARINES TO MOVE.

Tien Tsin, June 8—The Chinese authorities refuse to allow British marines and blue jaackets to entrain here for Pekin, though British officers offered to repair the railway.

ANXIETY IN LONDON.

London, June 8—The report that Chinese authorities have refused to allow more British marines to force their way from Tien-Tsin, and that the dowager empress has sent three thousand soldiers to protect the railroad has created grave anxiety here. It is believed that the soldiers were sent to oppose the British and that a battle will take place.

TWO MORE FRENCH WARSHIPS.

Tien-Tsin, June 8—Fighting is going on between the Chinese troops and Boxers twenty miles from here in the direction of Pekin. An engagement is also reported to have taken place on the Taku road. It is reported that the Chinese troops have been defeated near Pac-Ting Fu. Two warships have arrived at Taku.

GOING TO DANVILLE.

High Point Sunday Schools Will Run an Excursion—Death of Mr. Osborne—Mr. Varner Says Davidson is O. K.—High Point May Have a Steam Laundry.

High Point, June 8—The committees from the different Sunday schools of the town met last night, and after deliberation agreed to go to Danville, Va., on their annual excursion. The committee had several places in view, and taken altogether Danville was the most favorable point. The excursion will be run Friday morning, June 28th, and the fare will be $1.00 for round trip.

Mr. George W. Osborne died at Lexington Wednesday afternoon, of typhoid fever, and was brought here yesterday on the noon train for burial. The remains were accompanied by a large number of the Junior Order of that place, of which order the deceased was a faithful and influential merber. Mr. Osborn, lived in High Point until several months ago when he moved his family to Lexington. where he accepted a position as foreman of the American Furniture Company. He leaves a wife and six children to mourn their loss. The bereaved have the sympathy of all friends and acquaintances in this neighborhood.

Hon. H. B. Varner, editor of the Lexington Dispatch and Democratic nominee for public printing, was in town yesterday. Mr. Varner say that old Davidson is all right and that she will poll a large vote for the constitutional amendment. He is looking forward with a great deal of interest to the big Democratic rally there on the 23rd of the present month. "That will be a great day for Democracy, said he.

Fred O. Sink and Thos. Lowe, of Lexington, were here yesterday.

Capt. T. J. Redding and wife, of Carraway, were visitors yesterday.

Mrs. Harry B. Tilden and children are visiting in the city.

Supt. W. C. Lane, of the Albemarle graded schools, is visiting here.

Jones Scroggs is at home from Trinity College.

Negotiations are being made for a steam laundry in High Point.

Cut by a Meat Chopper.

Mr. Earl Feimster, a salesman in the grocery department at J. W. Scott & Co.'s, suffered a painful accident yesterday afternoon in having his arm cut by a meatchopper. Another salesman was running the chopper, Mr. Feimster's arm being caught as he was passing.

BUTLER TO GO TO KANSAS CITY.

MAY WISH TO LOOK AFTER TOWNE.

Pritchard and Butler to Go to Work Against the Amendment—Wolcott and Lentz Have Been Thorns in the Sides of Their Respective Houses.

Special to the Telegram.

Washington, June 8 —Immediately after the adjournment of Congress yesterday many of the members of the House left for their homes. In fact, as soon as the naval appropriation bill was disposed of, many of the North Carolina delegation left the House for the purpose of making their arrangements for taking their departure.

By the end of the present week it will be difficult to find a member of the North Carolina delegation in Washington. Some of the members, of course, will return to Washington at intervals between now and next December, for the purpose of looking after Department matters in which they or their constituents may be interested. Representative Pearson has a house in Washington, and is usually in Washington during the fall. He will frequently come to the city during the recess.

Senator Pritchard has left Washington for North Carolina and will devote the rest of the time from now until August in stumping in opposition to the constitutional amendment. Senator Butler will likewise spend most of his time until August in campaign work in opposition to the proposed amendment, and after that both Senators will be engaged in the work incidental to the presidential campaign. Senator Butler, it is said, may go to Kansas City during the Democratic convention for the purpose of working in behalf of Towne for vice-president.

Senator Pritchard will be in Washington very frequently during the recess of Congress for the purpose of looking after State matters, and in connection with Department matters which may come up.

Representative Gilbert, of Kentucky left for his home Wednesday night. He stated that although Congress had not adjourned, that he intended going home, as there is nothing in particular in which he is interested to keep him here any longer. A large number of the members of the House are in the same predicament, and would like to go home also. Before leaving the city, Mr. Gilbert talked interestingly concerning the Kentucky election. He is of the opinion that the Democratic party will carry the elections this fall in his State, not only for Governor, but for Presidential electors.

Senator Butler was happy Wednesday night. During the day session he found an opportunity to get a long-winded speech into the Congressional Record on armor plate, a subject about which most of the Senators are now heartily tired, and are glad it has been settled. At the night session he tried to secure an appropriation of five thousand dollars to build a monument of the Moore's Creek battle-field, North Carolina, which is of vastly more importance to the State than his speech in the Record. Senator Walcott, who has established a record for himself as an objector, objected, but later relented. The second time Butler tried to get his bill through the Senate, Loge of Massachusetts objected, and although the latter was appealed to withdraw his objection, he persisted.

The bill remains upon the Senate calendar, and is likely to stay there until the next session of Congress.

Senator Walcott and Mr. Lentz, of Ohio for the past few days have been a thorn to the members of their respective houses, and any member with unanimous consents to ask, have been compelled to consult them first.

Gardening Under Glass.

This is the title of the latest bulletin from the Experiment Station of the North Carolina College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts. The first part is a detailed account of the experiment made during the past winter in forcing tomatoes, by Prof. W. F. Massey and Assistant Prof. Alexander Rhodes.

The second part is a chapter of hints and directions by Prof. Massey on the use of glass in market Gardening.

The great increase of interest in winter gardening in the eastern part of the State makes this bulletin an opportune one. It will be sent free to all interested in the cultivation of the soil, on application to Dr. Geo. T. Winston, Director, West Raleigh, N. C.

French Omelet.

Break eight eggs into a basin, season with a small teaspoonful of salt and a little pepper, and if liked mace or nutmeg; add two tablespoonfuls of milk or cream, two ounces of butter broken in bits, and a little parsley cut small, if liked, also a finely chopped shalot or white onion well washed.

Rice Pudding.

Beat two or more eggs light and stir them into a quart of milk, with a teaspoonful of salt and a wineglass of rice well washed; put to it two tablespoonfuls of sugar, half a nutmeg, grated, and a tablespoonful of butter. Bake one hour in a quick oven.

Broiled Salmon.

Cut some slices about an inch thick and broil them over a gentle, bright fire of coals for 10 or 12 minutes. When both sides are done take them on to a hot dish; butter each slice well with sweet butter; strew over each a little salt and pepper to taste, and serve.

Sick Headache, traveling headache, sewing headache, temple headache, reading headache, bright light headache, back-of-the-head headache, front-of-the-head headache, top-of-the-head ache, morning headache, evening headache; these are a few of the different headaches that may come from eye-strain. Possibly we can cure your headache with properly adjusted glasses. We correct all eye defects that may cause headaches.

OUR POLICY IN CHINA.

The Government Will Take no Part in the Schemes of European Nations But Will Confine Iself Strictly to Protecting Our Consulates and Other Interests.

Washington, June 7—Perhaps a published rumor to the effect that the United States might join with other powers in prohibiting Russia from landing more troops than these other powers in China, led to the early appearance at the State Department today of Mr. De Wollant, the First Secretary and Charge of the Russian Embassy. If that was the subject of his inquiry, the Charge was speedily reassured. for the State department has made no concealment of its policy respecting the Chinese situation and has repeatedly intimated that it is concerned only for the safety of the American Legation and consulates in China, and for the direct interests of American citizens there.

An indication of the care exercised by the department in strictly confining its officers to these lines, is afforded by the instruction to Minister Conger sent yesterday to draw upon Admiral Kempff for any force needed to protect his legation and such refugees as might properly claim the right of asylum there or in the consulates. The minister was not even charged to send out the United States naval forces and marines to points where American missionaries are reported to be beset and in jeopardy, although much pressure has been brought to bear upon the State department by the missionary interests to secure an order to this effect. Mr. Conger's powers are regarded as ample, but he is not expected to take action in the matter of dispatching military expeditions to the interior of China that might be equivalent to a declaration of war on our part. By adhering closely to its old-time policy of abstention from interference with internal matters in China and especially by refraning from entangling movements in connection with the projects of other powers, the State department is confident that it can properly care for all the legitimate American interests in China during the present crisis, without becoming involved itself and without loss of prestige.

MR. JOHNSON IS RIGHT.

It is a Violation of Religious Liberty to Force a Man to Keep Sunday When He Has Already Kept Saturday.

Salisbury Truth-Index.

Rev. Mr. Johnson is exactly right. It is as much a violation of religious liberty to compel, by law, a conscientious believer that Saturday is the Sabbath, who religiously keeps that day, to obsrrve Sunday as the Sabbath, as it would be to compel by law a Friend, Dunkard or Moravian to take an oath. There is really more, because these latter refuse to do military service as a part of their religious faith, and may for that reason pretend to the other, whereas there is no temptation of a secular nature to prompt any one to keep Saturday instead of Sunday.

The law provides for the Friends, etc., so their consciences may not be interfered with. It ought to provide in some way so that the conscientious Seventh day observer may not be persecuted for his honest religious belief.

As such law would be liable to abuse, it should be carefully guarded so that no one could make it an excuse for the violation of the Sabbath, nor a means of creating a nuisance. We feel sure that this can be done. It should be done and the least and last stigma of religious persecution removed.

We are aware that this opens a wide field for discussion, which we do not propose to pursue now. But, we believe that a person should be protected in the enjoyment of his religious opinions, just as far and as long as the laws against immorality, indecency, and nuisances are respected and observed.

For Passing Counterfeit Money.

G. M. Pierce, a young white man from Salisbury, was arrested here yesterday afternoon for passing counterfeit dollars. He was given a preliminary hearing before United States Commissioner Trogdon and bound over to the next term of Federal Court. At the hearing the young man offered no testimony to prove his innocence.

COUNTESS CASTELLANE.

SHE COMPARES AMERICAN AND FRENCH MANNERS.

Impressions of the Young Woman Who Was Formerly Miss Anna Gould—She Says Frenchmen Have More Taste.

The Countess Castellane, formerly Miss Anna Gould, said to a newspaper reporter the other day:

"To be frank, then, in matters of etiquette the people of my adopted country seem to me far ahead of those in America.

"In little things, which, after all, as in the question of dress, are the big things, the Americans are neglectful or ignorant.

"Five years abroad in the aristocratic Faubourgs have made me cognizant of details, which, when I was Anna Gould, I should probably not have noticed.

"Knowledge is gained by experience. I remember that I used to write that sentence in my copybooks in as round and perfect a hand as I could master. I have learned now that it is a fundamental principle.

"Until I had lived, as it were, en vie intime, with the Parisians of St. Germain, I still thought our customs, our manners, all perfection. Now I am endowed with power to contrast.

"With what do I find fault? Ah, remember the praise will come later. First, then, to attach the blame.

"For instance, let us imagine a scene in one of the most exclusive drawing-rooms of this beautiful city. Follow me through the front door, where we have presented our cards to a butler, perfectly trained, admirably uniformed. The house, as far as we are permitted a glimpse of it, is charmingly furnished. Everything is, if I may so express it, as it should be. By the lights in the drawing-room, which are toned to perfection, with draperies at the windows or shades on the lamps, one distinguishes a group of women, beautiful, well-dressed.

"Well, imagine I have entered announced by the butler. The hostess rises and greets me. By the custom which prevails in America, she introduces me.

"What? I am astounded, not that she introduces me—remember, I have been born and brought up in America—but that no one rises. No, they sit perfectly still and bow.

"In France would they do that? Never. When the hostess rises they all rise.

"No one is ever introduced there unless she requests it. Without being introduced every one speaks, taking it for granted that to be guests at the same house is sufficient guarantee of one's social standing.

"But an introduction in France, no matter how informal may be the gathering, is a signal to rise. Of course, I am speaking now entirely of a gathering of women. I know none who would remain seated and bow to another.

"Then let us pass on the moment of departure. Imagine I have said goodby to the hostess. The others also remain seated while I disappear. Ah, what bad taste! Pardon me, so it seems to me, who has become accustomed to seeing everyone rise as I pass out of the room.

"Here it is no uncommon thing to see a woman stretch out her hand to a friend and remain in her chair while she does so. She will greet her cordially, and yet not take the trouble to rise.

"It is a custom which a resident of France cannot fail to comment upon.

"The French people seem, so to speak, to have their manners at the tips of their fingers.

"I believe I must say it—they are uniformly more polite.

"I believe they are, as a rule, more considerate of ones feelings.

"After all, has not someone said that good maners are indicative of a good heart? All French people have not only good hearts, but, surely, it seems to be part of their training never to hurt anyone's feelings.

"I have seen here as gorgeous jewels, as magnificent costumes, as ever one could see in Paris. Of the former I must say I have seen more.

"Here the women seem to wear their jewels as if to say:

" 'Can one have too much of a good thing?'

"By all the Parisian laws of good taste—yes.

"In France there are never any entertainments given for women only. Ah, imagine such a thing in France! How funny it would be. Every one would say, 'Why not men, too?'

"How do I account for this fact that there are no women's lunches, women's teas?

"Well, this you may resent, so I say it timidly: The French woman is more domestic than the American. Yes, she is. She would not think of leaving her house, her babies, unless for something important. To meet women would not be to her important. To meet men—ah! well, yes, men are more important.

"No French woman would ever deny the importance of man any more than she would deny his attraction.

Is a Quack Doctor More Dangerous than a Quack Plumber?

When you are sick why is it that you do not peddle out the job of dosing you, to the lowest bidder? You would get it done much cheaper than your family physician would do it, but some QUACK DOCTOR would get the job. Your plumbing is of vital importance and you can no more afford to have your plumbing done by a quack plumber than to call in a quack doctor when sick.

Give us your work and it will be done properly and price will be reasonable.

"Are Frenchmen more attentive than American men? Ah, I married a Frenchman, and I had met innumerable Americans. The American is more earnest, the Frenchman more witty; the American is probaly more capable in a business sense, the Frenchman is better read. I do not think he has better manners. I do not think he dresses better, but he has more taste; always, whether in the conduct of his house or the furnishing of it, he has more taste

"He shows it in everything he does, in everything he permits his wife to do.

Misses' Skirt.

The neat skirt for misses shown in the illustration would be adopted for rainy day wear for mature ladies. It is plaited as will be seen, the plain skirts having gone out of style.

Scalloped Eggs.

Boil six eggs twenty minutes. Make one pint of cream sauce. Moisten one cup of fine cracker crumbs in one fourth of a cup of cream. Chop fine one cupful of cooked fish. Remove the yolks of the eggs and chop the whites fine. Put a layer of the crumbs into a buttered baking dish, then a layer of the chopped whites, white sauce, minced fish, yolks rubbed through a fine strainer, and so on until the material is used, having the crumbs on top. Bake until brown.

Over a pint of Indian corn meal pour a quart of boiling milk, stirring it all the time; add a teaspoonful of salt; beat three or four eggs, very light; and when the batter is nearly cold, stir them into it; put the pudding into a cloth or tin mold and boil two hours. Serve with a sauce or with sirup.

A FRIGHTFUL BLUNDER.

Will often cause a horrible burn, scald, cut or bruise. Bucklen's Arnica Salve, the best in the world, will kill the pain and promptly heal it. Cures old sores, fever sores, ulcers, boils, felons, corns, all skin eruptions. Best pile cure on earth. Only 25 cents a box. Cure guaranteed. Sold by C. E. Holton.

RHEUMATISM

Distorts Muscles, Shatters Nerves, Stiffens Joints.

Is due to an acid poison which gains access to the blood through failure of the proper organs to carry off and keep the system clear of all morbid, effete matter. This poison through the general circulation is deposited in the joints, muscles and nerves, causing the most intense pain.

Rheumatism may attack with such suddenness and severity as to make within a few days a healthy, active person helpless and bed-ridden, with distorted limbs and shattered nerves; or it may be slow in developing, with slight wandering pains, just severe enough to make one feel uncomfortable; the tendency in such cases is to grow worse, and finally become chronic.

Like other blood diseases, Rheumatism is often inherited, and exposure to damp or cold, want of proper food, insufficient clothing, or anything calculated to impair the health, will frequently cause it to develop in early life, but more often not until middle age or later. In whatever form, whether acute or chronic, acquired or inherited, Rheumatism is Strictly a Blood Disease, and no liniment or other external treatment can reach the trouble. Neither do the preparations of potash and mercury, and the various mineral salts, which the doctors always prescribe, cure Rheumatism, but ruin the digestion and break down the constitution.

A remedy which builds up the general health and at the same time rids the system of the poison is the only safe and certain cure for Rheumatism. S. S. S., made of roots, herbs and barks of wonderful solvent, purifying properties, attacks the disease in the right way, and in the right place—the blood—and quickly neutralizes the acid and dissolves all poisonous deposits, stimulates and reinforces the overworked, worn-out organs, and clears the system of all unhealthy accumulations. S. S. S. cures permanently and thoroughly, and keeps the blood in a pure, healthy state.

Mr. J. O. Malley, 123 W. 15th Street, Indianapolis, Ind., for eighteen months was so terribly afflicted with Rheumatism he was unable to feed or dress himself. Doctors said his case was hopeless. He had tried fifty-two prescriptions that friends had given him, without the slightest relief. A few bottles of S. S. S. cured him permanently, and he has never had a rheumatic pain since. This was five years ago.

We will send free our special book on Rheumatism, which should be in the hands of every sufferer from this torturing disease. Our physicians have made blood and skin diseases a life study, and will give you any information or advice wanted, so write them fully and freely about your case. We make no charge whatever for this service. Address, SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., Atlanta, Ga.

FRIDAY, JUNE 8, 1900.

MR. NORTON ON MR. ROOSEVELT.

Some of us once thought that Theodore Roosevelt was about as good a specimen of the American citizen as could be found in a day's journey and that he would come near making an ideal executive. At the same time some people had a little squeamishness on the subject from the circumstances attending the nomination and canvass. Roosevelt seemed too close to Platt. If we are to judge from the speech of J. T. Norton, the temporary chairman of the New York Democratic convenvention lately in session in New York, those fears have been realized. Mr. Norton said:

To fool the people Theodore Roosevelt became the Republican candidate for Governor. He traveled from one end of the State to the other, singing his own praises as a warrior and a reformer, and, while the people gagged at his egotism, the cunning plot of his political master succeeded.

While of course we do not think Mr. Roosevelt entered into any deliberate plan "to fool the people," it certainly appeared at the time that he was too close to Platt. Mr. Platt furnishes bad company for a reformer to be in, and the charge of egotism patly stands against Mr. Roosevelt. But that was not all that Mr. Norton read from his manuscript speech. Here is some more:

To the shame of this great State be it said that the present incumbent of the executive office has placed so mean an estimate upon the dignity and importance of that high office, and has so poorly appreciated the confidence of the people in electing him that he has in effect abdicated his office and made himself only the proxy for Platt. Saturday after Saturday, and frequently on Sundays. too, has this Governor journeyed to the city of New York to receive instructions of his political principal as to how to conduct the office for the coming week. With a brazenness that knows no shame, with an indecency that despises just criticism, has this Governor abandoned the people and given the executive power of the State government into unclean hands to which the people never would have knowingly intrusted it.

Mr. Norton is certainly not lacking in directness in his statements, and he makes such charges as must have some truth in them. The personal popularity of Theodore Roosevelt added more to the strength of the Republican ticket than any other thing, and the people undoubtedly relied upon, and put a premium upon his integrity and independence. As Mr. Norton says, they did not consider him Platt's man, and it is a great pity if they have been fooled, as Mr. Norton says they have, not so much for what they will suffer, but because it shatters the idea that they had found the man they had supposed. When a man of this kind turns out less than was expected of him it is a distinct blow to the health of mind of the body politic. For this reason, we think Mr. Norton is counting without his host when he says in his next:

We can win in the coming State election. We can win on the paramount issue that "public office is a public trust." We can win by an appeal to the intelligence, the manhood, the Americanism and the good conscience of the voters of the State who despise the hypocrisy which louldly proclaims independence while submissively and cheerfully wearing shackles of bossism. The caged bird may whistle the delightful music of freedom, and the sound may lead the blind listener to think it free. But no such delusion is produed upon the man of intelligence who sees the captive whistler in the cage—and so with Theodore Roosevelt.

But when the captive has once fooled the people by claiming to be an independent songster, they are much slower next time to listen to the warble of a new bird.

Idaho yesterday presented the name of Hon. James Hamilton Lewis for Vice-President on the Democratic ticket. The Hon. James Hamilton was for four years one of the best known members of Congresss, and was known as the Pacific Coast chrcysanthemum.—Charlotte News.

Jim Ham is a whole garden full of chrysanthemums—yellow chrysanthemums. This makes it undecided whether the next campaign badge will be a picture of Mr. Bryan set in a border of yellow chrysanthemums or one of yellow journals.

An article appeared in the Telegram yesterday concerning the first steps taken in Philadelphia by negroes to put out a negro presidential ticket and negro State tickets in every State. If this had come sooner it might have saved the negro his vote in the South. But he has hung to corrupt and vicious white men, blindly following their dictates, too long now to redeem himself. If such a ticket is put out, it will of course be a hopeless one, but it will certainly bring to the negro more respect than he has heretoforoyed from his political influence.

THE BANKERS' CONVENTION.

The Association Will Meet Here This Month---A Splendid Program Has Been Arranged.

The local banking institutions have issued handsomely engraved invitations to the annual convention of the North Carolina Bankers' Association, which meets in this city on the 14th and 15th inst.

is where we stand in the lumber business. At the kicking post, as it were, in regard to prices.

First comes the owner of the timber. He just woke up to the value of it and wants double last year's prices. Then the sawmill man. He has not been making a fortune and thinks now he should share a little in the general prosperity

They say to us: "We must have so much for our trees and work." After a while it is "up to you." Don't kick. A Whistle Sixty-five Miles Long.

An odd accident occurred on the Chicago and Northwestern Railway Sunday afternoon at Highland Park, Ill. As the engineer of the train which reaches Milwaukee at 11 o'clock blew the whistle the valve broke, and he was unable to shut off the steam from the noise maker. From Highland Park to Milwaukee, a distance of about sixty-five miles, there was not a moment when the whistle was not sounding full strength. It could be heard for miles away as the train came on in a long, continuous shrill sound, and at every city and village the peaople ran to their doors to learn what was happening. While the whistle was blowing the fireman was straining every nerve to keep the steam up to the running point, and succeeded in bringing the train into the station on time.—Milwaukee Sen-

KRUGER'S FUTURE HOME.

A Pennyslvania Paper Locates Him in Tioga County.

Elmira, N. Y., June 7.—It is reported by The Canton, Pa., Sentinel that President Kruger, if he succeeds in evading the British, will locate in or near Brownlee, Tioga county, Pa.

Henry Maltes, a relative of Kruger, who lives in Brownlee, wrote Kruger, at the breaking out of the war, inviting him to locate there, in case eventualities made it necessary for him to leave Pretoria. He recently received a letter from Oom Paul accepting the invitation, and representatives of the Transvaal have made inquiries concerning the price of farms in the vicinity of Brownlee, which has a large number of Dutch residents.

AMIDST PALMS AND LILIES.

The Pretty Marriage of Mr. Bogart and Miss Hawkins—An Informal Reception Followed.

St. Andrew's church was packed last night to witness the marriage of Miss Mattie Hawkins and Mr. Clarence Bogart, two of Greensboro's most popular young people. The church was elaborately decorated. Numbers of palms, potted plants and lovely cut flowers were massed in lavish profusion about the altar. Over a pretty canopy of pink and white a quantity of honeysuckle was strewn with artistic carlessness, and from this was suspended the wedding bell of daisies.

As the first notes and words of "Faithful and True," the beautiful bridal chorus from Lohengrin, rendered by Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Brown, and Mr. and Mrs. Gales, pealed forth, the bridal cortege entered:

The ushers, Mr. Frank Brown and Mr. J. S. Kuykendull, Mr. W. B. Barker and Mr. E. C. Penn. Then the bridesmaids and groomsmen: Miss Sallie Harris with Mr. Allen, Miss Nellie Poole with Mr. Wilder. Miss Julia Bogart, carrying the prayer-book from which the service was read, preceded the maid of honor, Miss Lelia Hawkins. Then came the bride with her brother, Mr. W. P. Hawkins, by whom she was given away. She was met at the altar by the groom, who, with his best man, Mr. Herman Buchanan, had entered from the vestry room a moment before. Very tenderly and impressively did Rev. J. D. Miller perform the beautiful marriage ceremony of the Episcopal Church.

The blessing received, the bridal party left the church as Miss McIntosh, of Hickory, who presided at the organ, played Mendlessohn's wedding march.

The bride is the oldest daughter of Mrs. T. A. Hawkins, and not only is she extremely pretty, but her graces of mind and heart have made her greatly beloved. He handsome gown of white satin, en train, was beautifully trimmed with chiffon. The veil was held by an exquisite diamond sunburst, and she carried a boquet of bride's roses.

The maid of honor wore white silk, with red ribbons, and carried red roses.

The bridesmaids wore dainty costumes of white organdy and carried pink roses.

The groom is a son of Mr. W. F. Bogart. He is a trusted employee of the Southern Railway, and is held in high esteem by all who know him.

After the marriage an informal reception was held at the bride's home.

The wedding gifts were many and beautiful.

Mr. and Mrs. Bogart left last night for a trip North. On their return a reception will be tendered them.

SISTER OF A GREENSBORO LADY.

One of the Missionaries Endangered by Boxers in China---Stationed in a Remote Province.

A Greensboro lady—Mrs. W. M. Barber—has a sister who is a missionary in the section of China in which the Boxers, a rabid anti-foreign organization, are causing so much trouble. The missionary is Miss Maud Hancock, who is working under the auspices of the China Inland Mission, the great interdenominational organization under the direction of Dr. Hudson Taylor.

Miss Hancock's address is Tein-Tsin, where several missionaries have been massacred by the Boxers, though she is stationed a considerable distance away, in the province of Shan-Si. Here the danger is greater on account of the absence of American or European consuls or any other foreigners, except a few missionaries, the majority of whom are women.

Mrs. Barber has just received a letter from her sister, written the latter part of April, just as she was starting on her journey to the province of Shan-Si, to which she was transferred from Chee-Foo. In China news travels very slowly, it often being months after the occurrence of an important event in one section of the country before the people of another section hear of it, and when the letter was written Miss Hancock knew nothing of the serious trouble being caused by the Boxers.

Naturally her relatives in this country are much concerned as to her safety.

LADIES who wish to enjoy real foot comfort during the warm season should try a pair of our "Popular" or "Pic Nic" common sense Oxford ties. Our trade on these two styles increases constantly, because ladies who once try them wear them every summer and recommend them to their friends.

AMERICAN POCKETKNIVES.

The Greater Proportion of Those Sold Here Now Made in This Country.

Of the millions of pocketknives annually sold in this country, probably 75 per cent. of the jackknives and other heavy varieties are now being made here, and this proportion is increasing; while taking the total sales, more than 50 per cent. of the knives in value are now made here, and this proportion also is increasing. Fine penknives are imported from England and Germany; the cheapest jackknives, cheaper and poorer than any made here, come from Germany.

Pocketknives have been made in this country for many years, and there are now here some scores of factories for their production. The newest branch of the manufacture here is that of fine penknives, which have been made in this country only about forty years, and have come into their present large and extended use only within about twenty years. There are penknives of English make that have been made continuously under the same names for more than a hundred years; so that the making of such knives in this country is something comparatively modern. The American penknife, if not now actually the best in the world, is at least the equal, in quality, style and finish, of any produced anywhere.

Pocketknives are made in almost endless variety. One American concern makes 700 different sorts, which vary in kind, shape, size, number of blades, kind of handle, style and size of bolster, and so on. The best pocketknives have hand-forged blades. Great as is the variety of pocketknives now made here, a still greater variety is made in Europe, where the industry has been longer established and patterns and designs have accumulated; and the greater number of the odd knives, containing corkscrews and various other implements, still come from there.

A fine penknife of the best quality and handsomely mounted is still more or less of a luxury; it might cost at retail anywhere from $1 to $4. One-bladed jackknives can be bought at wholesale for 75 cents a dozen; fine penknives run up to $30 a dozen.—N. Y. Sun.

STEAM SHEEP SHEARING.

Fleece Removed in Less Than Three Minutes.

ALL DONE BY MACHINERY

Cuts Closer Than If Sheared by Shears—It Hurts the Sheep a Little—How the Machine is Handled—Quick Work.

The modern tendency to trim closer in every line of business has at last overtaken the poor sheep, and hereafter the simile, "as a shorn lamb," should be revised to read, "machine shorn." During all these years of head and horse clipping by the "mower," the sheep shearer has managed to hold his own with the venerable springback shears; and even now, so far as speed is concerned, the professional hand sheep shearer yields little, if any, to the machine. For all that the machine has come to stay. Not because it pleases or displeases the operator, for he has no say in the matter, but because of the extra half pound of wool which the machine gleans from each sheep.

A sheep will yield seven or eight pounds of wool. The market price is 15 cents per pound at present, and six cents per sheep is the shearer's wage; thus by using the machine the cost of shearing is eliminated and a trifle left.

These shears are very like a barber's "clipper," but with teeth three times as large, and they cut a swath about two and one-half inches wide. The power is furnished by a gasoline engine, is conveyed by belting to a general shaft, and then by means of cog wheels is carried through flexible shafting to the handle of the shears; so the operator has merely to guide his clipper. Each machine is independent and may be started or stopped at will.

The Sycamore (Ill.) plant has ten machines hung in a row from solid supports six feet apart. Back of each machine is a little pen holding ten sheep, and back of the row of pens is an alley through which the tens of sheep are counted in to be shorn and tallied as they come forth. The front of each pen is closed by a draw curtain, but few of the operators bother to keep it closed. When an inquisitive sheep walks out into the fleece covered area before the machines, his barber merely thrusts, kicks or hauls him back, calling him choice pet names and suggesting his final destiny. So the waiting sheep gather some idea of what is going on, and when a spindling thing that used to be a sheep is shot back among them and the shearer calls "next" by rudely jerking his hind leg from under one of them and dragging him out, feet in air, that sheep pretty well knows what to expect.

The plant is in full operation. There are ten big creatures sitting quietly between the feet of the shearers and submitting to the operator. Back under these sheds are over 15,000 sheep huddled together waiting for their barbers.

An operator hauls forth a fresh sheep, seats the animal between his legs, and while the left hand grasps his muzzle the right hand guides the shears straight down the stomach from a point midway between the front legs. The sheep holds these two front paws with truly feminine grace. Back go the shears for another swath. The stomach bared, by some four strokes of the shears that big tail is stripped so that it looks like a peeled banana. One stroke cleans the wool from inside each hind leg; then the outside of the left hind leg is finished, and swift strokes of the shears have laid bare the flank up to the neck. This operation makes the sheep looke very much like a blood orange peeled by a sharp knife, for the red flesh shows pink through the white skin, while here and there a hasty stroke has left a yellowish rise of wool—like so much pulp on the orange. Having shorn the head, the man works back the reverse way, flops over the sheep and finishes exactly where he began.

R. M. Marquis, of Mirabel, Mo., is said to have sheared 275 sheep in twelve hours. That wouldl allow him a trifle over two minutes and one-half per sheep, making no allowance for changing animals or renewing dull shear blades.

Does it hurt the sheep? Yes, a little when the shears nip through the skin, but the faster the workman the less he cuts the sheep, for every severe cut means a loss of time, and possibly a fine in addition. The sheep are to be sold as mutton in Chicago, so the owner wishes them kept in good condition, and the men have to put oil on the cuts or stop the bleeding by cobwebs or by a rope twist.

Once the fleece is off the shearer pays no further attention to it, save to shove it in front out of his way. An attendant sweeps the wool into a pile, a second attendant rolls this little pile in the main body of the fleece and ties it with a hemp strand from the bundle which girds his waist and hangs down behind, and when the fleeces have accumulated they are put into the big woolsack through the wooden hopper which distends its neck. The sack holds 250 pounds. Now the wool is ready for the cleaner and the sheep for the butcher.

These sheep are from all sheep ranges in the United States. They are shipped in poor, fattened under cover, and the feed expended gives a good account of itself.—Record

DEPTHS OF THE GREAT LAKES.

What Would Happen if Their Surfaces Were Lowered to Sea Level.

If the chain of great lakes which bound the northern limits of a portion of the United States could be brought to the level of the sea, two of the chains would be practically wiped off the face of the earth. Lake Michigan would become two lakes much smaller than the present majestic body of water which lies off Chicago. Chicagoans could travel on what is now the bottom of the lake as far north as a point midway between the shores of Milwaukee and Grand Haven without getting their feet wet.

No system of lakes presents as wide variations of extreme depth as the big fresh water system. Beginning with Superior and following the chain eastward, they vary from 1,386 feet to but 210. They are respectively 602 feet above the sea level for Superior, 581 each for Michigan and Huron, 573 for Erie, and but 247 for Ontario. Superior is far the deepest, with Michigan second. Ontario is close on its heels, being within a few feet of Huron, while Erie is so shallow that its greatest depth is thirty-six feet less than the midlake depth of Michigan between Chicago and St. Joseph. Erie can claim but 210 feet extreme depth.

A good object lesson of what the lakes have to offer is the course between Chicago and St. Joseph, Mich. The coast is measured from the lights of the two harbors. Beginning from this side the government pier, already quite a way out, has a depth of t' ty-six feet. The lake shoals on this side so that the extreme depth of the spoon is a trifle beyond the middle of the fifty-seven mile course. It drops rapidly, however, from sixteen in the river to 246 out in the lake. But on the other side, within a couple of miles of the shore, the depth drops from twenty-four feet to 166 with frightful rapidity. By the time the second song is sung leaving St. Joseph the singer is over some forty thousand fathoms of water.

Superior, if reduced to the sea level, would be robbed of two-thirds of its dimensions. The extreme depth is well east of the middle line. Michigan has her greatest depth, 1,000 feet, up toward the Straits. Huron is less than 800 feet, while Erie is very shallow. Ontario has a depth of 735 feet, owing to the Falls of Niagara. If all were brought to sea level, Erie would be 500 feet above, Michigan would be a couple of ponds, Huron almost out of it, Superior a lake not much larger than many another, and Ontario the largest of the system.—Chicago Chronicle.

HETTY GREEN.

She Was Called in Out of a Rainstorm While Going to the Milkman's.

"Hetty Green is not always the woman that she appears in print," said a Chicago woman who has met the famous female financier.

"One summer I visited a friend at Rockaway Beach, and Mrs. Green and her daughter were stopping there—living in a rented room a few doors away. A terrible rainstorm came up, and in the midst of it my friend saw a woman trudging by without an umbrella.

"'I'm just going to invite that old lady in out of the rain,' said my friend, and without more ado in she came, and I saw at once that it was Hetty Green, although the hostess had no suspicion of it. Mrs. Green noticed me smiling and said presently:

"'I see that you know who I am.'

"'I think I do,' I replied, and explanations ensued, much to the amusement of everybody.

"Hetty Green was going through that rainstorm to the milkman's for two cents' worth of milk. We were having tea, and, after drinking a cup, she rose to go.

"'Now, come up and see me,' she said, 'but you needn't expect to get as good tea as this; I don't buy it.'

"The circumstance passed out of mind. But in the fall, after the family went back to town, my friend's husband, who was a coal dealer, received a large order for coal from Mrs. Green."—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

The Real Agony.

"Jones, did you suffer much when you got that fall on the icy sidewalk?"

"I suffered more from hearing my wife say 19 times that she had told me I ought to wear my overshoes."—Detroit Free Press.

His Tattooed Back.

Those whose fancies lightly turn to thoughts of tattooed backs may derive inspiration from contemplation of this picture. It shows what adorns the reverse side of an English soldier's son. The figure is that of a Japanese dragon, and the colors are green, red, yellow p[illegible] and brown.

To Boil Halibut.

Take a piece weighing four or five pounds, scrape the skin clear, dredge flour over it, and boil according to its weight—ten minutes to a pound. Serve with plain boiled potatoes and drawn butter, or egg, or parsley sauce. Cold boiled halibut may be served the same as codfish; any of the sauce which may remain may be put with the cold fish.

HIS IDEAL WOMAN.

Not So Much an Angel as a Sympathetic, All-Forgiving Human.

Man has a number of fixed, old-fashioned notions about the ideal woman which are quite apart from questions of complexion and dress, writes Carrie E. Garrett in the Woman's Home Companion. The sober truth is that, while men may seek diversion with the more showy, flippant type of girl, and are often caught by mere glitter, they have an ideal far, far above this cheap type which is imperishable. A man does not picture a completely limp and characterless creature as his soul's ideal, however "sweet." Yet the woman as she appears in his dreams is not too clever. It is a pleasure to him to be a little superior to his mate—to be "looked up to"—and, as the true woman desires to "look up," it is clear that nature's arrangements in these matters are not without design. The most charming woman of all is she who has the consummate wit to seem to "look up" when really she stands on a level with the man who loves her, or perchance a little above him.

One thing imperatively demanded in the make-up of the ideal woman is sympathy—that all divining, all-forgiving quality which makes the whole world akin. Sympathy is one of the prime factors of charm. So is humor. A man is fearfully lonesome when his wife cannot see his jokes. She could offer him a more deadly affront than to laugh in the wrong place at his pet stories. The ideal woman is religious—has the wise, sweet old-fashioned notions about right and wrong. A man is quite capable of making merry over his wife's scruples of conscience, but I think he would be rather disappointed if she had no scruples—if in his worldly way she was guided chiefly by experience. He may not say many prayers himself, but he loves to know that his children pray at their mother's knee. Perhaps he sometimes reflects that the nightly petition from innocent lips, "God bless father," may not be quite empty of meaning.

"My wife suffered for many years from Nervous Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, Sleeplessness and Nervous Debility," writes John Kelloes, Philadelphia. "We tried many physicians and numerous remedies, but with no results, until I heard of Johnson's Dyspepsia Cure. We bought six boxes, and the results far surpassed our expectations. She now eats and sleeps well, is gaining in flesh, and her color, which had got to be yellow and sickly, is now as fresh as when we were first married, and I tell her that Johnson's Dyspepsia Cure has made her ten years younger."

WINE OF CARDUI

Woman Knows Woman.

ZURICH, KAN., Jan. 31.

I used Wine of Cardui for nervousness and weakness in the womb. After taking one bottle I was well again. I am a midwife and always recommend Wine of Cardui to my lady friends during pregnancy and after birth as a tonic. Every lady who takes it finds that it does even more than is claimed for it.

MRS. V. M. BOISVERT.

McELREE'S
Wine of Cardui

Nobody knows woman like woman. Men go to medical colleges, study books and listen to lectures. They learn indirectly of the diseases of women, but they are men and can never fully understand the ailments, the sufferings, the agonies of mothers, wives and sisters. A woman knows. Mrs. Boisvert knows. She has passed through the trials and tribulations of her sex. She has been near by when her sisters suffered. She has seen them relieved and cured with Wine of Cardui. Is it any wonder she recommends it? Is it any wonder that thousands of other women recommend it. They know. They have actual experience to prompt them. They spread the tidings from mouth to mouth, telling how Wine of Cardui helps young girls, helps the weak of all ages, helps and cures all womanly ills.

Corn Culture in North Carolina.

A very readable popular bulletin on this subject has been prepared by Benjamin Irby, Professor of Agriculture in the North Carolina College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts and Agriculturist of the North Carolina Experiment Station. Prof. Irby treats of corn culture under the following heads: Kinds of lands suited for corn culture; preparation of the soil; when and how to plant; best fertilizers; best methods of cultivation; a good rotation for corn; selection and improvement of seeds; protection against Weevils and moths; the comparative food value of corn and other crops.

This bulletin is now in the hands of the printer. Any one may secure a copy of it by addressing Geo. T. Winston, Director, Raleigh, N. C.

What the Dukes Have Given Trinity.

Durham Special.

The first gift was when Washington Duke gave $150,000 to build and equip the Duke building and Epworth Hall. In 1896 he gave $100,000 to the endowment fund, on condition that women be admitted. In 1898 Mr. Duke supplemented his gifts by adding another $100,000 making his total gift $350,000. B. N. Duke gave first $40,000, then added $50,000 last year, and different times has given additional $10,000 for improvements, grounds, etc., making $100,000.

Repartee in Congress.

"My observation and experience in the House has been that it is extremely dangerous to interrupt a man who is making a speech," observed Representative Champ Clark of Missouri, who gave the cold shivers to Representative Adams of Pennsylvania the other day, when the latter interposed some remark into his utterances on the Phillipine question. "If he has good control of his mental apparatus, the chances are all in his favor.

"I once received a stunning blow myself, which exemplified my original statement. It was in the last Congress, when the House was trying to fix a time for debating the civil servie law. Some gentleman had proposed that the time should be divided equally between the friends and opponents of the law. Colonel 'Pete' Hepburn, of Iowa, told the House that he thought the time should be divided into three parts. One portion should be given to the friends of the present law. There were others who were in favor of a partial repeal only; they should be given a portion of the time. Then Colonel Hepburn said the other portion of the time should be given to the Democrats, who were for total repeal of the law.

"'How do you know that?' I was rash enough to ask him.

"'Because it is wrong, and the Democrats are always wrong,' he retorted. Afterwards," added the Missourian, "I crossed over to the Republican side and congratulated Colonel Hepburn. I often refer to that incident when I lecture."—Washington Post.

Compliment with a Sting.

Talk about delightfully put compliments. I heard a girl at a supper deliver herself of a perfect jewel the other night. She leaned across the table—the table next me—to say it, and she meant well.

"Oh, Miss Dumdum," she said, cordially, "I've got a trade at last for you."

"A swap?" asked Miss Dumdum, beaming with anticipatory delight.

"Uhhuh," answered the other. "Lieutenant Bulbul said it."

"Oh, do tell it!" pleaded Miss Dumdum, eagerly.

"It was an awfully nice one," said the first girl, "and Lieutenant Bulbul meant it, too. He said you waltzed divinely. He said he was awfully surprised, too, to find it out, so I knew he meant it. He said he wouldn't have thought from seeing you walk that you could dance at all."—Washington Post.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED.

Yes, August Flower still has the largest sale of any medicine in the civilized world. Your mothers and grandmothers never thought of using anything else for indigestion or biliousness. Doctors were scarce, and they seldom heard of appendicitis, nervous prostration or heart failure, etc. They used August Flower to clean out the system and stop fermentation of undigested food, regulate the action of the liver, stimulate the nervous and organic action of the system, and that is all they took when feeling dull and bad with headaches and othaches. You only need a few doses of Green's August Flower, in liquid form, to moke you satisfied there is nothing serious the matter with you. For sale by Grissom & Fordham.

CATARRH CAN BE CURED BY

Johnston's Sarsaparilla

QUART BOTTLES.

"DANGER IN THE EARTH AND AIR; DANGER EVERYWHERE."

A Wise and Venerable Doctor Talks about Advanced Science.

In a leading hotel, in a great city, a famous and aged physician was conversing. Listening to his wise and sententious discourse, were a group of well dressed men, evidently lawyers, business men and commercial travelers.

My firm belief, is "that medical science is certain yet to show that all diseases without exception are caused by invisible germs which are living organisms. Here is the germ of that terrible disease diphtheria. Here is the bacillus of typhoid fever; and here is the still more dreadful bacillus of tubercle which causes that most destructive of all diseases, consumption. This of that very common and supposed incurable disease, catarrh."

"I wish, Doctor," said the traveling man, "that you would tell us about catarrh. I have had it for years, and I am thoroughly discouraged."

The Doctor answered. "Catarrh, like diphtheria, consumption, typhoid fever, and a host of other diseases, is the result of a microbe invading the blood and attacking specially the mucous membrane. This foul and most disgusting disease is especially prevalent in the United States and it is rare to meet one who is not, or has not been troubled more or less with it. How often is he or she obliged to remain at home from pleasant entertainments, deprive themselves of many intellectual treats, from fear of the disagreeable odor arising from catarrhal affections. In its worst phase, the patient becomes loathsome both to himself and his friends.

"I believe," continued this great physician, "that the true way to heal catarrh is to medicate the blood. This can be done only by powerful alteratives which act as blood purifiers."

Betsy A. Marett, of Manistee, Manistee Co., Mich., writes:

Dear Sirs:—For ten years I was a sufferer from general debility and chronic catarrh. My face was pale as death. I was weak and short of breath. I could hardly walk, I was so dizzy and had a ringing in my head all the time. My hands and feet were always cold. My appetite was very poor. On getting up in the morning, my head swam so I was often obliged to lie down again. I had awful pains in the small of my back. I had a continual feeling of tiredness. My muscular power was almost entirely gone, and I couldn't go half a dozen steps without stopping to rest, and often that much exercise caused me to have a pain in my side. It seemed as though the blood had left my veins. The doctors said my blood had all turned to water. I had given up all hope of ever getting well. I tried the best physicians in the state, but failed to get any relief. My husband got me a bottle of Johnston's Sarsaparilla. I took it, and then I bought another. When these had been used, I was somewhat improved in health. I continued its use, and felt I was growing stronger; my sleep was refreshing, and it seemed as if I could feel new blood moving through my veins. I kept on taking it, and now consider myself a well and rugged woman. I work all the time, and am happy. I am positive that the Sarsaparilla saved my life. The sick headaches I have had since childhood, have disappeared, and my catarrh has almost entirely left me. I cannot be too thankful for what Johnston's Sarsaparilla has done for me. I recommend all women who have sick headaches to use your Sarsaparilla.

SHORT STATEMENTS.

A Few of the Things Seen and Heard in Greensboro Today.

Father Ignatius, of Belmont, will officiate at the Catholic church in Winston next Sunday.

Yesterday afternoon Henry Gardner, colored, was bound over to court in three cases for retailing.

Some person who has a tooth for good chicken robbed Mr. W. J. Ridge's hennery of all his fat fowls last night, leaving only one old hen.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Jones will entertain the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of West Market Street church next Tuesday evening from 5 to 7 o'clock.

On account of the absence of the priest, there will be no service at St. Benedict's Catholic church Sunday. Father Anthony left last night for Boston on a ten days' vacation.

The grand jury for this term of court will probably not complete its work by the end of the week. The solicitor still has a number of bills of indictment to be investigated.

The entertainment given at Summerfield last night was a very enjoyable affair. A farce entitled "The Mouse Trap" was well rendered by the Summerfield Dramatic Club. About fifteen young people from Greensboro attended.

The Vanstory Clothing Company is giving its customers a useful article in the shape of a collar buttoner, something every man has felt the need of. Each purchaser of collars will receive one A two-cent stamp will secure one for out-of-town customers.

Advertisers.

Attention, bankers: It has been demonstrated that there is no burglar proof safe, and this being the case, you should protect yourselves and your customers by carrying a burglar policy in Fidelity and Casualty Company. Murray Brothers are the exclusive agents for this company.

Sturgis & Co. have money to loan, also a desirable High Point home to exchange for afarm.

John B. Fariss, the druggist, sells a large cake of castile soap for 10c.

Holton's drug store advertises soda water that goes direct to the thiristy spot.

Thanks.

We wish to thank one and all who contributed to the India relief fund, and also the daily papers for kindnesses in printing reports. Remittances were made by New York exchange as follows:

March 23,	1900	$ 62.11
April 3,	"	58 10
April 23,	"	71.30
May 16,	"	32.07
June 6,	"	15.35
Total		$238 93.

The treasurer will be out of town for a few days and Mr. R. G. Vaughn will receive and forward contributions. The need is still very great.

MRS. F. E. ROSS, Treas.

Colored Medical Association.

The North Carolina Medical Association of colored physicians, surgeons and pharmacists will meet in High Point on June 13th and 14th. The program consists of papers and discussions of interest to the professions represented in the association.

Drs. J. E. Dellinger and J. L. Bullock, of this city, will discuss "Intestinal Antisepsis" and "Physical Righteousness," respectively. W. L. McNair, Greensboro's colored druggist, will read a paper.

Wants to Locate an Ice Factory.

An ice manufacturer in another city has his eye on Greensboro and is making an investigation with a view to locating a factory here. If he can receive the proper encouragement the probabilities are that another ice factory—an up-to-date plant—will be located here in the near future.

Straight Through to Morehead.

Persons wishing to attend the Teachers' Assembly at Morehead City can leave Greensboro on the noon train and go straight through to Morehead City, arriving there at 8:45.

SPECTACLE PEDDLERS.

Our readers who have had experience with "traveling spectacle venders" know to their sorrow what it means to patronize such. We have, right here in our city, competent refractionists and opticians who are successful in their profession as our best citizens testify that their glasses give perfect satisfaction and when any changes are needed they are here to make such satisfactory It is really cheaper, too, as you get what you pay for. Here is a fair sample of how people are imposed upon: A working woman in one of our cotton mills paid a peddler $9.00 for glasses not as good as our home dealers would have furnished for half the money. We have reliable, trustworthy dealers here a home, and who deserve you patronage. This question deserves your most serious thought.

CHEAP spring heel shoes in ladies' sizes. We have just received a large shipment of ladies' spring heel shoes, laced and button, to sell at $1.25 and $1.35, sizes from 2½ to 8. This is your opportunity if you want large size spring heel shoes, as they are sometimes hard to find. There is one lot of especially desirable vesting top shoes in this lot at $1.35.
